

A group of us who meet regularly in the Geffery Memorial hall on Mondays and Tuesdays would like to provide number of poppies to be displayed at the entrance to Landrake village to commemorate Remembrance Day.

They would be fashioned from wood and be about 7 to 8 inches in diameter and possibly fifteen to twenty in number .

I have checked with the Royal British Legion if this is allowed and was told that as long as we didn't use the copyrighted shape or profit in any way there would be no objection .

Would the Parish Council give their permission for us to go ahead with this small project ?